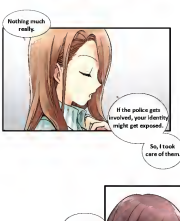
He left, I guess?

Yeah ...

Why do you look depressed?
I do ??

A lot happned today. That's why probably.
I should keep my mouth shut about the envelope.

What happened to the sergeant and the guards?



Nothing much really.
If the police gets involved, your identity might get exposed.
So, I took care of them.

How so ?

The guards were once caught hanging out with the students few months ago.
I simply mentioned that and they backed off.

I figured letting them owe me a favor would come in handy, so I let them get away with it
Um.. I simply mentioned them. I didn't threaten them or anything ~

46.

And ... the sergeant ?

I wasn't going to let him and you meet again.
Because I feared you might forgive him and even tell him to be a friend or something.
So, I sent him back quickly.

I wouldn't do that...
Really? Coz your eyes were beaming sympathy back there.

Er, because I felt kinda responsible for what happened...
I should have just told him that I had a boyfriend...
Whether you had a boyfriend or not, you rejected him. He should have ended the whole saga at that point.
Besides, he ...

Anyway, be firm and refuse any contacts from him.
Don't give him any chance to gain hope again.

Do you understand ?
Block him.
I... I will !

Does he have to do that?
Recalling bad days.

번쩍!

I did it !
I blocked him !

Very good.

Eh...

I ... feel like I am being trained somehow ...
Not that it feels bad or anything though ...

Now I am going back there and make a report to the head resident.

A lot saw it, so there will be gossips.
It won't be forgotten easily. Now I should handle this ... I don't know clearly yet.
